Have Won-Clevelands Loss to the Brooklyns and Chicago Beats Baltimore - Boston Untpoints Cincinnati, Just when a victory was needed to overhaul the Pittsburghs the New Yorks fell down. They were beaten yesterday because of the unfortuinnings had the Smoky City players guessing The Clevelands were almost shut out by the Brooklyns, but they lost very little ground, as the Baltimores, their nearest rivals, were put to sleep by the Chicagos. Thus it will be noticed in the appended record that the teams managed respectively by Anson, Fontz, and Mack are on even terms for seventh place. The Bostons gave the Cincinnatis another set-back, and the Philadelphias, who barely got away with the tailenders, tied Ewing's men for third position. Washington moved up a little more in percentage by subduing the luckless St. Louis experts. The results:

The New Yorks were beaten yesterday by the Pittsburghs in the most unsatisfactory manner Pittsburghs in the most unsatisfactory manner. Owing to the condition of the pitching corps, Manager Irwin called upon Seymour to officiate, while Campfield sat upon the beach. It was demonstrated beyond the question of a doubt in Chicago that Seymour is subject to the rattles, and when he began his work there was an unlimited amount of worrying among the cranks. For six innings Seymour did well enough, chiefly because of his fine support, but in the seventh he "went up in the support, but in the seventh he "went up in the support, but in the seventh he "went up in the support, but in the seventh he "went up in the support, but in the seventh he "went up in the support, but in the seventh he "went up in the support, but in the seventh he "went up in the support, but in the seventh he "went up in the support, but in the seventh he "went up in the far in the last of the head lost his nerve that it seemed remarkable that Managor Irwin did not take him out before Steuzel made a home run with the bases filled. Previous to that frightful hit Seymour was so nerveus that he trombled like a leaf as he walked up to Farrell for instructions. The New Yorks had been hitting Killen freely and were well in the lead when the trouble began, which made it all the more heartrending for the 4.000 cranks who were praying for victory. But to make matters worse Irwin kept the nervous man in fer still another inning, which yielded three more runs for the visitors and placed victory beyond the reach of the New Yorks.

Outside of the unfortunate pitching, the New Yorks played good ball. They outbatted their opponents, which, in view of the fact that Killen pitched against them, was a most commendable fact. George Davis, Gleasou, and Farrell did the best work, both at the bat and in the field. Harry Davis's weakness in left field was again apparent, and his batting was weak. The Pittsburghs put up an errorless game, and made enough noise on the coaching lines to drive a boiler factory into bankruptcy. They were very lucky to win under th Owing to the condition of the pitching corps, Manager Irwin called upon Seymour to officiate, only landed on second, while Davis and home.

In the fourth Irwin's men made another run, and it was carned, too. With one out George Davis lined a three-bagger to right and counted on Tiernan's swift grounder that Bierhauer had to field to first. Bill Clark laced a single to centre field in the sixth, and H. Davis's attempt to bunt resulted in a little foul to Sugden. Farrell then fell upon a straight ball and landed it in a miniature lake beyond the ropes. Clark scored, and Charley stopped running at third, but he was left.

scored, and Charley stopped running at third, but he was left.

Then came the slaughter. With two men out and Jud Smith on first, the Pittsburghs rattled Seymour to such an extent that they rolled up seven runs before another man could be put out. Killen and E. Smith singled, and J. Smith came in. Ely received a base on balls, and with the corners covered Stenzel banged a home run to left. H. Davis muffed Donovan's fly, and Patsy, who landed on second, cantered in on Bierbauer's safe drive to left. Beckley then cracked a board in the right field fence, and tried to score on Seymour's wild throw to third, but G. Davis natied him at the plate. That made the score 9 to 5. Davis nailed him at the plate. That made the score 9 to 5.

Seymour was still up among the cloudlets in the eighth, and three more runs were hung up for the visitors after two men were out. Jud Smith singled and advanced on Sugden's sacrifice. He was caught stealing third, and Seymour then lost his head and gave a base on bails to Killen. Elmer Smith whipped a three-bagger to left, Ely singled, Stenzel took a gift, Donovan singled, and hieranuer filed out.

Manager Irwin now decided that Seymour had pitched enough, so he sent him to centre field and put Van Haltren in to pitch. The New Yorks then made a final brace which netted two runs. Van Haltren bunted safely, G. Davis received fourballs, Tlernan shot adouble to left, and Van scored. Gleason fouled out, and on Connaughton's hot one to Bierbager G. Davis counted also. The score:

BROOKLYN, 6: CLEVELAND, 1.

When Patsy Tebeau stepped upon the field at Eastern Park yesterday it could easily be moticed that the chief of the Cleveland team felt as proud as a peacock, and during the first two innings he intimated that such a thing as the Brooklyns beating his team was out of the Guestin. Jones opened the third inning by sending a vicious liner just over Child's head, at no time did it rise higher than eight feet from the ground, but it went so fast that before either McAicer or fliake had started on a run the sphere had jumped the bicycle track and dropped in the hellow back of the ropes. Jones was seated on the bench before the ball was recovered. In addition to the home run Jones made two doubles and a single, hitting asfely every time he toed the plate. The Clevelands could not do anything with Daub's twisters, the visitors being held down to one clean hit and three scratches. The score: BROOKLYN, 6: CLEVELAND, 1.

HARVARD'S NINE AT HOME. The Victorious Ball Players Receive

Bogros, June 11,-The Harvard baseball team arand were enthusiastically received by a throng o bridge to this city to meet them. At 6 o'clock this morning the Harvard brass band started from in front of Matthews Hall, and playing martial music marched around the college yard twice. This was sufficient to bring out a big crowd of students, who quickly formed in line and started for the Providence line station.

they received a tremendous evation, the authusiasm surpassing anything of the kind shown by Harvard students in a long time. The players were cheered repeatedly and escorted to a tally he coach in waiting outsile the station. The horses were unhitched, a rope was tied to the coach, the men fell in line, and, with the band leading, the bait players were drawn by their cheering colleagues out as far as Harvard Bridge on the road to Cambridge.

At the bridge a stop was made, and Capt. Dean of the ball feam made an address from the top of the coach. He thanked the students for their grand reception, and declared; that the spirit shown by them was just what was needed to create and sustain successful athletic teams at Harvard. More cheering followed, and as some of the ball players had to be at examinations at 9 o'clock they took electric cars for Harvard, while the throng of students continued their march out to Harvard square, they received a tremendous ovation, the enthusiase

GRAVESEND'S PROGRAMME.

St. Bartholomew Eastly Wins the Hanover The Parkway a Gallop for St. Maxim— Nanki Poob and King's Counsel Also Win The Brooklyn Jockey Club's programme as announced through the newspapers yesterday morning was sadly riddled by withdrawals, and the racing as a consequence was dull in the extreme. Only three borses started to the first, third, and fifth races, the latter the Parkway Handicap. The only race of the day which promised anything in the way of a contest, the Hanover Stakes, won by the Blemton Stable's Bartholomew, was robbed of much of its interest by the leaving at the post of the heavily backed second choice Successful. Dorian and Aurelian could not make St. Maxim galiop, and the Parkway Hapdicap was an easy race for the Messrs. Fleischmann's speedy five-year-old. King's Counsel and Azure were the bugbears in the opening dash, Nanži Pooh frightened most of those named to start out of the second, while it was any odds that St. Maxim would beat his field for the Parkway. Consequently most of the owners preferred keeping their horses in the stable to racing for the small ends of the

There were eight starters for the Hanover Stakes, with Hi Daddy a slight favorite over Successful and Salvado. Successful had changed hands on Tuesday, and ran in the name and colors of the Kensico Stables. Riley Grannan, George Wheelook, and other big speculators backed her heavily, believing that at the weight and distance she would be hard to beat. Hiddenite, as usual, behaved badly at the post, bucking and jumping like a bronco. At the and of twenty-five minutes the flag was thrown. with Successful left at the post. St. Bartholomew and Hi Daddy were in front of the others, and they had the race to them-selves. Hi Daddy led into the stretch, but weakened at the last furlong pole and gave up the ghost when Griffin called on the Blemton colt for a final effort. St. Bartholomew was not all out by any means when the finish was reached in 50% seconds. Hi Daddy was second. a length away. Passover was third, three lengths further back, a head before Salvado.

reached in 30% seconds. Hi Daddy was second, a length, away. Passover was third, three lengths further back, a head before Salvado. Griffin, the rider of St. Bartholomew, was fined $50; Noatrand, the rider of Salvado, $25, and Hirsch, the rider of Successful, $25 for bad behavior at the post. It was rumored that Hi Daddy had shown a half-mile tirlal at Gravesend in 48% seconds. St. Bartholomew is by St. Blaise, out of St. Bridget.

St. Maxim was favorite at the very short odds of 2 to 1 on for the Parkway Handicap. There was no pace in the early part of the race, all running under a pull till the half-mile ground was passed. Then Simms simply let St. Maxim have his own way, and it was no run at all. St. Maxim winning hard held, with Aurelian second and that rankest of counterfeits Dorian last. St. Maxim's impost of 115 pounds was evidently allotted on his Brooklyn Handicap form. St. Maxim is not a good performer at more than a mile and a furlong, and at that distance in the Brooklyn he was a good second to Sir Walter.

The opening dash for two-year-olds at five and a half furlongs had C. H. Smith's King's Counsel, the colt that was left at the post in the Hudson Stakes, an odds on favorite. Old Matt tried to make the pace, but the others were too much for him, and the hig colt dropped out of it on the upper turn. Azure ran gamely under the whip when Doggett moved with King's Counsel, but he could not overhaul the favorite, King's Counsel winning by three quarters of a length. The second race was much like the first, inasmuch as there were but throe starters, and the favorite, Nanki Pooh, won. Chugnut made the running until well into the homestretch, where Nanki Pooh made his run and won with a lot of speed in reserve by a length and a haif. Song and Dance sulked at the end of seven furlongs.

Hersk was played for a real good thing in the selling race at a mile, for which he had as competitors Copyright, Premier, Marshall, and Buckeye. Brisk went to the front at once, and opened such a gap that he was never appr

ROWING.

Harvard's Men Thrown Out of Their Boat -" Pennsy's" Good Work,

POUGHKEEPSIE, June 11 .- The Harvard 'Var sity scullers met with an accident last night. They had been out for a spin over the course for the first time, and were returning to their boat house. The steamer Romer came down the river, and the wash capsized the Harvard shell, giving a severe drenching to the entire crew. The men were picked up by the launch, and the shell was towed to the boat house no worse for its experience.

Chairman of the Rowing Committee Thomas Reath of the University of Pennsylvania arrived here to-day, and had a long talk with Coach Ward about the action taken by the faculty. Reath says the faculty will hold another meeting either to-night or to-morrow and reconsider its action. At the last meeting all of the members were not present. The river was very rough this morning when "Pennsy's" two crews went out. They went up the river, and when near the two-mis post they met the Columbia 'varsity crew. The blue-and-white boys could not stand the rough water, the wind and tide having shifted since they left their boat house. There was nothing to do but get out of their shell and lift the boat out of the water to the dock, which is four feet above the water. The shiell was covered up and the crew returned to their guarters on the launch. "Pennsys" two crews went past and smiled to themselves. Reath of the University of Pennsylvania ar-returned to their quarters on the launch. "Pennsy's" two crews went past and smiled to themselves.

Coach Ward's training his men in rough water has proven very valuable to them, neither crew having lost a day's training since their arrival. Both crews went out this afternoon for aspurt. They were taken to the starting point, their hows evened up, and Coach Ward yelled "Go." They started off with a thirty-four, which they maintained for two miles. The freshman crew were a quarter of a mile behind at the finish. The first mile was covered in 4:45, and the two miles in just 11 minutes. The freshmen had just housed their boat when a terrific wind and rain storm broke forth in all its fury. Coach Ward said there was a possibility of keeping kier. Megarges, and Stevenson in the 'varsity shell. Coach Walter Feet arrived to-day, and will take charge of the Columbia crews to-morrow. He was greatly surprised at the shake-up in the "Pennsy" crews, and symmathized with Coach Ward. Harvard's freshman crew was out in the morning and the 'varsity in the afternoon. Columbia had only a little training to-day.

NEWS OF THE WHEELMEN.

RIDERS GREATLY EXERCISED OVER THE PROPOSED TAX.

palding Says that It Will He Unfair and Unjust Bacing Programme of the National Meet of the L. A. W. Jersey-men Preparing for Their Annual Baces, Wheelmen are greatly exercised over the dea of imposing a tax upon bicycle riders. It is argued that such a step will be an unjust discrimination. In speaking of the matter to a reporter of THE SUN, A. G. Spalding said: "All cyclists should protest against the prof bleycles, as an unfair and unjust measure that is not worthy of the city of New York, Legislation of this kind is class logislation of a character that, if carried into effect, will be rebuked sooner or later by the thousands of riders.

"If bleveles are taxed, then why not tax torses, carriages, and wagons? The assertion that wheelmen, as the owners of vehicles, receive unusual privileges for which they pay nothing, is untrue. The wear and tear on a city street by an army of bicycles, with their easy-running pneumatic tires, is as nothing compared to that caused by parrow iron tires under heavily loaded warons drawn by horses Then why discriminate to the injury of thousands of persons, many of whom cannot afford this exorbitant and unusual tax?

"To-day the bloycle is unanimously regarded by the medical profession as a benefit to the public health, and yet in the first city in the land the public are forced to contemplate the spectacle of its Aldermanic Board seeking to minimize the good effects of the popularity of this means to health by levying a tax on those who desire to enjoy a popular pastime.

"If the motive of this ordinance is to keep the streets better preserved than they are at present, then why not compel wagons and trucks to use wider tires and carriages to use rubber tires. If the hitherto unstated motive is to improve the streets, then why not give to wheelmen a continuous asphalt street from the Battery to the Harlem. If the motive is not one of the above, but it is to improve the streets. why tax a man who is enjoying a harmless and yet useful pastime, while the street railroad companies are permitted to use the streets and grow rich in this city of New York for a nominal onsideration in the way of taxation? "It is difficult to understand why it is pur-osed taxing wheelmen and yet not tax cable cars, horse cars, brewery wagons, ice wagons, and heavy vehicles of that character. The measure is un-American, for it seeks to injure a new pastime that needs encourage ment rather than discouragement."

The annual meet of the New Jersey division of the L. A. W., to be held probably in Au-gust at Paterson, will be under the auspices of the Associated Cycling Clubs of New Jersey. The Race Committee contemplate holding the races at the Clifton track. The events will consist of several short-distance events, a tandem race, and likely a five-mile contest. A team race between the associated clubs will also be held.

The committee who are arranging for the races to be held at the national championship meeting of the League of American Wheelmen at Louisville in August have decided to offer prizes valued at $910 in the amateur events. In the professional races the total value of the purses will reach $1.783. In the championship races where the amateur and professional riders will compete meetals from the L.A. W. dies will be offered. The racing programme has been arranged as follows:

A large number of bicycle riders refuse to use brakes on their wheels. If brakes were now in general use the list of coasting accidents would be far less. As an illustration of the danger of riding a bicycle not fitted with a brake. Wheeling of London says:

"A cyclist, named Henry Phillips, aged about 50, who lived at Kentish Town, was riding through Redhill on Whit-Sunday, when, in descending Earlswood Common road, the chain of his machine came off. There was no brake on the bicycle, and, losing control, the unfortunate rider dashed against a telegraph pole with such force as to split open his sault. Death was instantaneous."
